General

Today we all are at the precipice of uncertainties due to fast changing landscape in the field of security, and thus challenges are manifold. The Security Professionals are required to address various types of issues in day to day life. To help address the ever increasing security challenges, newer technologies are being inducted regularly to augment the Security efforts. Because of these changes in the field, senior professionals in leadership positions need to refresh their knowledge on the current risks, likely changes in compliance regulations and the latest technologies designed to mitigate these risks and to meet these changes and on latest techniques in response management. IISSM has, therefore, launched a custom-designed training capsule course to meet these requirements."

Description

The custom-designed training capsule is a judicious mix of lectures, presentations, and discussions in a real-time virtual classroom to cover the following topics:

- Risk Management in the changed environment.
- Changing Security Threats and Vector of Attacks.
- Emergency Response and Use of Technology.
- Information and Data Security.

Who should Attend ?

- VPs & AVPs of Senior Management
